NEW CONTRACT SIGNINGS CONTINUE FOR EMERCHANTS

Adept Solutions Limited (Adept) is pleased to announce that it has entered into several new contracts over the past month.

Highlights

- Emerchants secures contracts with Year of the Farmer, The Star, Fataway, Market Australia, 200X Trade Now and Gemcom Software Australia;
- The combination of these contracts underpins the issuance of over 150,000 new cards;
- The varying card functionality amongst these new clients is a testament to Emerchants' flexible payment transactions software and systems;
- These contracts are part of a number of new contracts signed over the past several months.

Adept Solutions Ltd is pleased to announce the signing of several new contracts with a variety of clients in varying industries. The clients in this announcement are part of 41 new clients being supported by Emerchants over the course of this fiscal year.

Founded as a non-political, not-for-profit organisation, Australian Year of the Farmer 2012 is an education and awareness campaign to celebrate the contribution Farmers make to the Australian economy and community. Emerchants' pre-paid cards will be used for rewards and loyalty programs by facilitating discount offers and rebates.

The Star, Sydney's premier entertainment destination, is utilizing Emerchants' cards that replace the paper voucher method and provide strategic support for the existing Absolute Rewards loyalty programme.

Fataway is a program run under the Craig Mosyton Group and will be utilizing Emerchants' reloadable payments cards, eliminating the need to write checks to their customers as their drivers pick up recyclable cooking by-products.

Market Australia will be implementing the Emerchants' issued MasterCard product for the payment of sales commissions to staff, whilst 200X Trade Now will be utilizing Emerchants' EFTPOS debit cards for a similar purpose.

Finally, Gemcom Software Australia Pty Ltd are using Emerchants' MasterCard for corporate expense management.

The combination of these new contracts represents over 150,000 new cards with varying degrees of functionality based on the needs of the client.

Adept Solutions Managing Director, Bob Browning, commented, "We are particularly pleased with the addition of these very important customers to the Emerchants portfolio. The diversity of industries within which these clients operate and the varied uses for which our cards are being configured are a testament to the flexibility and effectiveness of Emerchants' systems. We are confident there is not a business in Australia that our pre-paid card system does not have an application for."

Recently, Emerchants surpassed an important milestone, with the issuance of its 3 millionth card since operations began. Mr. Browning commented, "We are experiencing stronger growth trajectories than ever in the past and expect many more milestones such as these to be surpassed."
